She was born in a small town and learned early the difficulties that go along with single parenthood. After several years of struggling to raise three children on her own she discovered a local pregnancy resource center. With the aid of the center and her community she overcame her obstacles and vowed to give the same change to women who came after her. For over 30 years she has been a strong advocate for pregnancy centers across the nation and continues to fight for their funding and legal standing. She is now the proud mother of three and grandmother to 11.
