There is a reason things are difficult.
Abortion affects us more than you think.

No matter what role you played:

- Maybe you both agreed and you supported her choice
- Maybe she made the decision and you stayed passive
- Maybe you pushed for the abortion even though she wasn't sure
- Maybe you didn't want her to abort but couldn't stop her
- Maybe you didn't even know about the pregnancy until too late
- Maybe you aren't the father, but your partner is hurting from an abortion in her past

Pregnancy brings with it powerful changes and conflict. Both men and women are hard-wired to react to becoming a parent: women to nurture and men to protect. Abortion cuts short these instincts and often leaves confusion and hurt.

The effects of abortion changes people.

Common symptoms for women include anger, anxiety, depression, and self-destructive behaviors. Not great stuff for relationships. In addition to being confused by her new behavior, you may also have some frustration and anger, too.

While you may be tempted to ignore these problems, they may not go away with time. Many of us have dealt with the same things and found that there is hope.

Give us a call today to talk to someone who can help you get to a place of peace.
