

Many women experience denial about the emotional and physical aftermath of an abortion.

It is common among women to seek out other reasons for these symptoms, causing further damage to their personal relationships and emotional health.

Get the facts so you can begin healing.

Could explain your FEELINGS

You made the decision that you thought was best. But now it seems to be hurting you more than you ever thought possible, and causing unexplained emotions and hardships.

Abortion affects everyone differently. If you are experiencing any of the following, you are not alone.

- Emotional deadening
- Increased tendency toward anger or rage
- Feelings of loneliness or isolation
- Lower self-confidence than usual
- Suffering from insomnia or nightmares
- Greater difficulty in maintaining or developing relationships
- Increased or beginning use of drugs or alcohol
- Eating disorders (binge eating, anorexia, or bulimia)

A photograph showing a woman with curly hair, wearing a light blue denim shirt, leaning over and comforting another woman. The second woman, with dark hair pulled back, is wearing a black top and has her hand covering her face, appearing to be in distress or crying. The background is a bright window with blinds.

Begin the healing process and let us support you through this difficult time...
