ADOPTION:

Are you considering your options?
When adoption is right for you and your child, it can be a choice made with LOVE.

ADOPTION IS ABOUT CHOICE:

You have the right to choose the perfect family who will love your child and provide them with a happy, healthy home. You can even meet and have a personal relationship with the adoptive parents.

You can choose the amount of future contact you'll have with your child and how much information he/she will be given about you. You can choose to write your child a letter, send a picture.

These choices help insure that you will have an adoption experience you are comfortable with and your child will be placed in the best home possible. Your child will know that you loved them enough to make sure they had the very best.
